

Temperament

It is said that a person is born with one of four personalities, or temperaments.

I have forgotten, but will make up.

1. Secure – does not care if the mother is around, but does enjoy her presence.
2. Attached – the baby will cry if the mother goes away. The fear that the mother will not come back.
3. Obsessed – just like attached except more dramatic. The child will even hit the mother when she returns.
4. Empty – the child does not react to the mother at all. The child just exists and lives. If it does have emotions, none can be seen.

The first temperament is a secured one, the other three are insecure. Which one are you?
